

Award-Winning Bespoke Prop Company Going From Strength to Strength!

Scarborough-based So... Visualise is going from strength to strength, hot on the heels of winning a prestigious business award.

Lisa Borrie won the Star of Digital category at the Star Women in Business Awards in April and has just announced the latest projects involving the So... Visualise team.

The talented 'crew' of bespoke prop makers have been involved with national TV network Channel 4, fashion house Ted Baker London and are soon to travel to the Natural History Museum in London for their next design projects.

Lisa said: "We have been delighted at the positive response from such important and iconic companies, all of which have a national standing.

"This puts So... Visualise firmly on the prop making map as we are very bespoke and offer businesses and brands a completely unique creative process."

Lisa has other projects in the pipeline that she is keeping under wraps for the moment. However, she also represented So... Visualise at the Visual Merchandise and Design Show in London in April for the second year running.

Other recent clients include L'Occitane, the prestigious skincare company, lingerie stylists Rigby & Peller and Dalby Forest, North Yorkshire.

Lisa concluded: "While we are lucky enough to be working for very prestigious organisations, we also like to 'keep it real' by working with those closer to home who help support the local economy."

So...Visualise offers a number of services including visual displays, brand enhancement and consultancy.
